PALS Family Letter Template for Kindergarten -Mid Year 2023– English

VLP provides this template to divisions and schools to assist with family communication about PALS. Division and school leaders are encouraged to send this letter as well as the child's Student Summary.

Date: _____

Dear Family of ______,

PALS-K is a screening tool of young children's literacy development which has been used for over twenty years with students in Virginia. Results are used to determine individual children's learning goals, plan classroom instruction, and raise awareness of children who need additional support or instruction in early reading and literacy.

Focusing on early detection and early intervention of reading difficulties is a required state-wide policy (Early Intervention Reading Initiative). The PALS-K screening tool is a way to help schools and teachers meet that mandate.

PALS has individual task scores which show the number of items a student answered correctly on each task and an overall Summed Score. There is a different Summed Score Benchmark for each grade-level as well as Fall/Spring. There is not a Summed Score Benchmark at Mid-Year. However, assessment at Mid-Year allows teachers to monitor students' individual-task scores in between the Fall and Spring assessment periods.

If your child's Fall Summed Score met or exceeded the benchmark, your child is not identified to receive intervention funded through the EIRI initiative. However, your child's individual task scores may still indicate that your child needs instruction in those particular areas.

If your child's Fall Summed Score was below the benchmark, this indicates that your child is significantly behind in basic literacy development and was identified by PALS for intervention. Identified students are required by the Early Intervention Reading Initiative (EIRI) to receive 2.5 hours of additional instruction per week above and beyond regular classroom instruction. If your child was identified for intervention in the fall, intervention will continue throughout the school year.

On the next few pages, you will find:

- a sample Kindergarten Student Summary for Mid-Year to help you understand your own child's report
- a table with more detailed task information
- a Family Information Sheet for Literacy Screening in Virginia that answers common questions about PALS
- your child's Student Summary

Sincerely,

Sample PALS-K Student Summary: Mid-Year 2023

An RA symbol indicates one or more tasks was administered remotely.

An ID symbol indicates that the student either: 1) scored below the Summed Score Benchmark of 29 in the Fall, or 2) remains UCd from a previous screening window if assessed remotely. A student with the ID designation must receive 2.5 hours of literacy intervention per week during the school year.

The numbers in parentheses represent the task range. A score below the range requires targeted instruction. The number in the gray column indicates the maximum score for tha task.

Family Information Sheet for Literacy Screening in Virginia

What is literacy?

Literacy means that someone can read and write. The goal of reading is to be able to understand (comprehend) what one reads. Children need to be able to:

- 1. decode –blend sounds together to read words
- 2. encode spell words
- 3. understand and use language

As children's skills improve in these three areas, they develop fluency and comprehension.

What is a screener?

A literacy screener (also known as a test or assessment) is designed to identify children at high risk for reading problems. If students are identified as needing additional support, they receive intervention (i.e., extra instruction) to help the student make progress. Early intervention is critical because research tells us that risk for reading difficulties can be detected as early as kindergarten. Additionally, PALS task scores allow teachers to target instruction to meet student needs.

What is PALS?

PALS is the Virginia Department of Education sponsored literacy screener that is designed to give a snapshot of critical literacy skills at a single moment in time. Rather than focus on all parts of literacy, PALS focuses on decoding and encoding. PALS does not offer a comprehensive picture of your child's literacy skills.

What do PALS scores mean?

PALS has individual task scores which show the number of items a student answered correctly on each task and an overall Summed Score. If a child's Summed Score is below the Summed Score Benchmark, the student is eligible to receive state dollars for intervention. There is a different Summed Score Benchmark for each grade-level and each time period (fall/spring). There is not a Summed Score Benchmark at Mid-Year. Mid-Year screening allows teachers to monitor students' individual task scores in between the Fall and Spring assessment periods.

If your child's Summed Score meets or exceeds the Fall or Spring benchmark, your child's individual task scores may still indicate that your child needs instruction in these particular areas.

If your child's Summed Score is below the Fall or Spring benchmark, this indicates that your child is significantly behind in basic literacy development and has been Identified below the Summed Score Benchmark by PALS.

Students who have in and/or is by their name have a Fall or Spring Summed Score below the benchmark and are required by the Early Intervention Reading Initiative (EIRI) to receive 2.5 hours of additional instruction per week above and beyond regular classroom instruction. Divisions and schools may decide what intervention looks like and how to communicate the plan to families. The 2.5 hours may include time with a person or a program, or a combination of the two. You may ask your child's school about EIRI intervention provided for your child. The PALS Office provides a letter template that divisions and schools can use to give you additional information about your child's PALS scores.
