Display or hold the sound-spelling card for Pp.

- Point to the letter at the top of the card. The name of this letter is Pp.
- Point to the picture. The sound this letter makes is /p/, as in pencil.
- The sound /p/ cannot be held a long time. I make the sound quickly. I have to "jump" off the sound. Model.
- Point to the spelling pattern at the bottom of the card. /p/ is spelled p. If I'm writing a word, and I hear the sound /p/ in it, I will write the letter p. The spelling for /p/ is p.
- The name of the letter is Pp. The sound the letter makes is /p/. The spelling for /p/ is p. Remember, /p/ is not a sound that can be held.

If students need support with:	Then try this:
Sound production/identification		Sound	Where	What	How]
		/p/	Lips together	Lips	Voice off	_
Allow them to use handheld mirrors with the lesson, if available.	Students may benefit from understanding how and where a letter-sound is made. Teaching the shape of the mouth the articulators (the parts of the mouth that block the flow of air when making sounds), and the voice can aid in correct pronunciation of each sound. Here's a sample lesson: The name of this letter is Pp . The sound it makes is /p/. The spelling for /p/ is p . Remember, /p/ is not a sound the can be held. When I make the sound /p/, my mouth looks like this. Model the shape of your mouth as you make the sound /p/. Can you make your mouth look like mine? If possible, let students use handheld mirrors to check the shape of the mouth. When I make the sound /p/ my lips are closed and pursed a little bit. I send a puff of air through my lips to make the /p/ sound. Again, let students use handheld mirrors, if available. When I make the sound /p/, my voice is off. I don't use my voice to make the sound /p/. If I put my hand on my throat when I make the sound /p/, I can't feel a vibration. Put your hand on your throat and say the sound /p/. D you feel a vibration?

NE DO IT!

Provide guided practice.

Let's try it together! I will say the steps as you do them. Show students the sound-spelling card for Pp.

The name of the letter is Pp. Name? Students respond with letter name: Pp. The sound the letter makes is /p/. Sound? Students respond with letter sound: /p/. The spelling for /p/ is p. Spelling? Students respond with the spelling: p.

Review 1-2 times, if needed: Name? Sound? Spelling?

Provide independent practice.

Your turn. I will hold the card in front of one student at a time. I will ask that student to tell me the name, the sound, or the spelling. Listen closely so you know which one to say out loud.

Hold the card up so everyone can see it. Then, hold the card directly in front of one student and say one of the following:

- Name? Student responds with letter name.
- Sound? Student responds with letter sound.
- Spelling? Student responds with letter name.

Repeat the routine so that each student has the opportunity to say the name, the sound, and the spelling.

Now we know that the name of the letter is Pp. The sound the letter makes is /p/, and a spelling for /p/ is p. OR: Now we know that when we want to write the sound /p/, we can use the letter p.

Teacher Tip: When asking for individual student responses, do NOT go in a predictable order (round robin)! Keep the students on their toes by skipping around.

ASSESS

ENRICH/EXTEND

Assess students (formally or informally). Determine the level of mastery for the stated objective.

Observe individual students as they respond during guided and independent practice. Scaffold or correct all errors. Provide specific feedback for accurate responses.

Teacher Tip: As students learn more and more letter sounds, you can begin or end the session with a lightning round of sounds, where you flash students the sound-spelling cards and students make the sounds as quickly as possible.

Enrichment/Extension. Provide enrichment and extension activities for students who need less support.

For students who show mastery of letter-sound correspondences, work toward automaticity in blending words with two or more sounds using known graphemes.
